Mark Thomas Lambert to release his debut album "Never Too Late."

"Never Too Late" will be released through TuneCore in January 2017 and will be available on over 100 digital sites, including iTunes, Amazon, Google and Spotify. Physical CD's will be available at www.markthomaslambert.com.

A couple of years ago, Mark Thomas Lambert decided it was time to do something about his desire to create songs – at 63 years old! It seems that melodies and song ideas have been rattling around in his head since his garage band days in the 60's.

Mark Thomas Lambert owns 3 guitars, one in Chicago, one in Tampa and one in Tri Cities, WA. Regardless of which city he is in when he's not working on commercial real estate deals or being a grandfather, he spends his free time writing new songs. He doesn't read or write notes but creates melodies on his guitar and then writes the song stories to go with them. When the songs are created he travels to Nashville where the songs are tracked with some of the best professional talent in Nashville at Beard Music Group. Vocals are also recorded at Beard's studio featuring Adam Cunningham on background vocals. When asked what his style of music is, he replies; "I am a never too late baby boomer writing baby boomer era songs for baby boomers." When asked who does his music sound like he replies; "3/6 Beatles +2/6 Elvis Presley +1/6 Johnny Cash = Mark Thomas Lambert Sound."
